

VACANCY NOTICE

MASTER'S STUDENT BURULI ULCER PROJECT

The management of the Kumasi Centre for Collaborative Research in Tropical Medicine (KCCR) is seeking for an individual with a driven passion for research and strong determination to push the frontiers of current knowledge to fill a Masters (Mphil) position on the Buruli ulcer project.

QUALIFICATION

The candidate must have a Bachelors degree in Medical Laboratory Technology, Biological Sciences or Biochemistry. The Mphil candidate must have basic laboratory experience such as pipetting, sample cataloguing and general knowledge in good laboratory practice. The use of statistical analysis packages such as GraphPad Prism, SPSS or other relevant statistical analysis tools will be an added advantage.

Must be a team player and have good interpersonal working relationship.

Must be able to work under pressure.

The successful applicant should be prepared to work in any part of the country and for longer hours.

RESPONSIBILITIES

The position holder is responsible for:

- Works under the supervision of the Principal investigator
- Is responsible for the documentation of all laboratory supplies received
- Performing laboratory work associated with the project according to SOP's
- Assist in fieldwork activities
- Efficient and economical use of material and equipment

MODE OF APPLICATION

Interested persons should send their application including their CV, a motivation letter, photocopies of certificates and two (2) confidential reports from their referees to:

The Head of Administration

Kumasi Centre for Collaborative Research in Tropical Medicine (KCCR)

SMS/KNUST

Kumasi

Email: info@kccr.de

Or deliver your application documents at the Administration Room No. 121 at

Kumasi Centre for Collaborative Research at KNUST Campus, South End Asuogya Road

Submission deadline: 30th June, 2017